Exploration of Skagit River

LACONNER, June 24.—The party under Messrs. Hill and Sweny, sent out by the Skagit River [illegible] of Seattle to explore the upper Skagit and its tributaries, has just returned and reports that for sixty miles above the jam the river is navigable for steamers, and that the valley of the Skagit for that distance has an average width of 10 miles, composed of the richest river bottom lands in the Territory, though mostly heavily timbered. These lands are unsurveyed and unoccupied. The company will probably open a portage around the jam, and place a steamer above, which will make the whole country accessible to immigration. The North Pacific railroad survey, under Captain Sheets, had run forty miles from the Sound on level ground, only rising 140 feet from the sea in that distance. There seems to have been an easy grade to the Skagit pass and it is most likely this route will be selected for the North Pacific railroad.

GREELEY'S LETTER

[From the Cincinnati Gazette.]

Horace Greeley has at length answered the official letter notifying him of his nomination by the Cincinnati Convention. This was dated May 3, his answer May 20. The letter is that of a ready writer, who has confidence in the instrument by which he has won fame and fortune, and therefore gives it play. Practiced as he is with the pen, he will find that the Presidential candidate who commits himself to paper during his suspense takes on perils. There is in all of Horace's writings since he was bitten by this Presidential flea a deep but most transparent craftiness. He excuses his delay by his desire to hear from the people. He says he has heard, and is convinced that he is the popular choice. Simple, wily Horace! You issued a manifesto to the Democracy just before the convention, to the effect that if the Democrats should make a nomination against the Cincinnati ticket, you would support Grant. You waited to see what the Democratic committee would do. You were baffled when the Democratic Convention was put off till July, leaving you a suspense of two months. Thus you were forced to deliver yourself. You were not waiting for the popular response, but to see what the Democratic leaders would do. And unless you have changed the conditions you solemnly proclaimed just before the Cincinnati Convention, you have now taken this nomination, upon condition that the Democrats shall nominate you, with the alternative that if they do not, you will support Grant. If you have changed this stipulation it is time you were saying so, for you stand now in a tricky attitude.

And what is this "stamp of public approval by a majority of our country" that Horace affirms? The general expression of all those who created the Cincinnati convention for reform was of disappointment and disgust. The only Republican journals, save some obscure ones in New York, that have given adhesion to Greeley's nomination are the Chicago Tribune and the Springfield Republican, both of which went into the Cincinnati movement to break up that policy which Greeley professes to hold vital to the country's welfare. Both these were sorely disappointed with Greeley's nomination. Both give it a very reluctant support, and neither can be relied upon till election time. The only expressions of public approval are from Democratic journals and politicians. And among these there is a fierce intestinal conflict on the Greeley question. Poor Horace has accepted this as "the stamp of public approval, and the proof that his nomination has been hailed by a majority of our country as the harbinger of better days for the republic."

Ratiocination was never one of Mr. Greeley's faculties. Thus when he modestly disclaims this spontaneous popular enthusiasm as due to himself and ascribes it to the platform, he goes on to say that "this has met hardly a syllable of criticism or cavil." Thus we find that there is an uprising of popular enthusiasm and a great expectation of a new era, from a platform so glitteringly general that there is no dissent from it. But if this platform contains nothing but what the Republican party assents to, where is the excuse for going to the Democratic party to find sympathy?

The demoralized Horace affects to think that there is no difference in parties save what is laid down in platforms; that if the Democratic party will make some pretty resolutions it should be rewarded by being placed in power; that the act of trying to betray the Republican party and bring the Democratic into power for the price of a Presidential nomination can be condoned by a glittering platform; that treachery to party and principles and a proffer of political integrity for a nomination by the party he has always denounced as vile in its whole nature can be made honest by resolutions.

Greeley has received no evidences of popular approval save from the Democratic party, and he now stands a bidder for the Democratic nomination, offering for the consideration on his part his ability to draw Republican votes enough to give the Democratic party the victory, when he has not a sign to show that he can deliver this treacherous payment.

This letter is not so much an answer to the Cincinnati convention as a bid for the Baltimore Convention. This purpose sticks out all over it. For this he assumes that this platform, adopted by a so-called Liberal Republican Convention, has swept away all party divisions. In Greeley's mind, his march into the Democratic camp has abolished parties. In this bidding for Baltimore he paraphrases the platform, adding inducements in his own phraseology. In this the transparently [illegible] crafty Horace contrives to work in his paraphrase of the tariff dodge a promise that he will not regard differences of views in affairs of public policy in his appointments to office.

This was needful, for there are Democratic [illegible] in this wise. What may we expect from Greeley? We know how they may know what they may expect. They can have an understanding with Greeley. The man who has proffered to defeat the Republican party for the price of the Democratic nomination will not stop to pledge his patronage to help the bargain.

We learn that the local may assume the appearance of an angel of light. It was never thought that the Democratic party changed its nature by its own pleasing resolutions, and [illegible] Horace Greeley assumes that it would by adopting those of the fraudulent convention at Cincinnati. Its declaration for the [illegible] of equal political rights and for the removal of the disabilities growing out of the crime of rebellion are the same that the Republican party is wont to resolve, and that the Democratic party has been resolving for [illegible] which Mr. Greeley has been denouncing it as the aggregation of all the [illegible] in our society.

Its declarations for local self government against national supervision and against the suspension of habeas corpus and the use of the military, if they mean anything at all that is relevant to our times, mean to denounce the civil rights bill by which the national authority secured civil rights to the citizens of the South in spite of their local governments; the reconstruction legislation, by which the central authority required the reconstitution of the local governments in conformity to equal rights; the Ku Klux law, by which the national authority undertook to protect the citizens of the South from armed rebel violence instigated by haters both of the national government and of equal rights, and the use of the military arm to enforce this act where the civil power was overthrown by armed force.

If they mean to condemn these measures, they condemn those acts which Horace Greeley supported in every stage of inception, legislation and execution, including the use of troops for arrests and the suspension of habeas corpus. They condemn a course of legislation which none urged more radically and intemperately than he, and a course of execution which he demanded and supported by his editorial comments and by his correspondence narrating the cruelties suffered by the Southern people from the inability or unwillingness of the local authorities to protect them against the armed bands which overthrew all law. Not longer ago than last fall the Tribune teemed with these accounts of lawlessness and cruelties in the South. These were after long suffering on the part of the administration, and the utmost reluctance in using the means that had been placed in the President's hands. And in all this time the Tribune was wont to charge that it was the Northern Democratic organization that [illegible]ed and kept up this Southern rebel violence.

If these resolutions mean to condemn all this course of legislation and administration, Mr. Greeley is now in the posture of an abject penitent before the Ku Klux. If they do not mean this, will Mr. Greeley inform the country what they do mean? If they mean anything, it is that Horace Greeley has [illegible] his course for the last ten years, and that he now not only asks amnesty for himself from the Ku Klux, but asks them to make him President to reward his apostasy. Descriptions of principles in the detail of affairs are hardly worthy of mention in the presence of this total abandonment of character. But Horace Greeley has maintained that what he calls protection is vital to the country's prosperity and independence. He has declared it above all merits of parties. He has asserted that he who opposes it is so willfully a public enemy that it is unaccountable save upon the conclusion that he has been corrupted by foreign gold. Yet he pledges himself to abide the President's constitutional function in legislation so that he can not hinder Congress from destroying protection, and that he will not use the influence or patronage of the executive office to promote or preserve the policy of protection.

This desertion of his principles, and this offer to defeat his party, for the price of the Democratic nomination, he tries to slur over by such euphuistic phrases as "[illegible] behind the rubbish of worn out contentions," "a new departure from jealousies, strifes, and hates," the bringing in of "an atmosphere of peace, fraternity and good will," &c. If any one else had done this, Mr. Greeley [illegible] have described its character in a few of his Saxon words. The Democratic party has not changed its nature or purpose. [illegible] pretensions of a change. The Ku Klux [illegible] not abated their hate. Wherever they [illegible] been suppressed, it was by the [illegible] that Greeley now con[illegible] [illegible] is that Horace Greeley is [illegible] the Democratic nomination, and [illegible] for it an abandonment of his principles and the [illegible] that he can draw [illegible] votes [illegible] the Republicans to defeat that party and bring the Democracy into power. That is Mr. Greeley's position and character. His [illegible] that the terms "traitor and [illegible]" will attach to him, and that he is playing a [illegible] which threatens him with "infamy and ruin."

A Wail of Anguish.

Brick Pomeroy gives vent to his ravings in the following manner.

Look at the Democrats of the United States!

A pack of fools!

A congregation of cowards under the lead of thieves.

Three millions of men afraid to move!

An army of men without a leader—a [illegible] without a head—a host without a name or idea!

Where are the Captains—the Generals—the leaders—the organizers of the party?

Asleep, drunk, stealing or making bargains with political enemies!

Where is the National Democratic committee, with a life giving address, and counsel and help at each State campaign?

Sleeping with August Belmont's dog or horses, sucking soup from the bones gnawed in his bank, or buying gew gaws for their mistresses with money made by them from sly little bargains with the Administration?

Where is the working head—the collector, helper, organizer—the Chairman of the National Executive Committee of the Democratic party of the United States?

Buying and selling blood! Dealing in bonds! Cutting coupons from the twenty-eight millions of dollars' worth of United States paper he holds for himself and his foreign masters, who look upon our land as theirs! He is working against the Democratic party. He is paying money to secure and insure a Republican victory. He is helping other Democrats make people believe that political victories can be won by intrigue and idleness, rather than by work honestly planned and well continued.

God hates a coward!

Then God hates the Democracy of to-day, for it is but a lazy, aimless, shiftless mass of cowardice afraid to move, to speak, to act, to say, to do, to plan, to think, to organize, to fight or even protest against outrages the most damnable ever inflicted upon a people.

No Committee!

No pluck!

No organization!

No work!

No disposition to dare!

No care for the future!

No wish to help the people out of slavery to the rich and dishonest!

No address!

No help or suggestion to those who are trying single handed to carry States against a centralized power rotten in corruption!

No sending able and eloquent men from State to State to talk to the people, infuse life and to help win victories for Democracy!

No care on the part of the National Committee whether Democrats win or lose!

No promise of a National Convention, but all but two of the National Committee working and spending money against one!

No calling upon the people to make ready to come boldly out in defence of their principles.

No energy!

No convention, therefore

No work, therefore

No victory for Democrats in—

November!

Railroad Lands

Reference is made by the [illegible] in an article of [illegible] European and Oregon Land Company [illegible] that [illegible] the management [illegible] to keep back immigration [illegible]. The railroad lands it declares are held at prices ranging from two [illegible] dollars per acre, though Congress has declared in the act granting them that they shall be sold at a price not exceeding two dollars and fifty cents, and only in limited quantities to actual settlers

It is not to be expected that the Herald will publish any correct information on any subject that relates to the railroads. Its famous arithmetical calculation whereby it divided one million by forty nine thousand and got two hundred and four for a quotient and then declared that each inhabitant of the State, man, woman and child along the line of the railroad, would have to pay $204 a year for fares to enable the Company to pay the interest on their bonds, was not much more out of the way than its general dissertations on all subjects connected with railroad affairs. The railroad lands are not held at such prices as the Herald alleges. The prices placed on the lands run from one dollar and twenty five cents to four dollars an acre

With regard to the limitation to two dollars and fifty cents an acre, to which reference is made by the Herald we may as well state here the interpretation which is given to this condition of the law. In the Act extending the time for the completion of the first section of the road there are two provisos. The first declares that nothing in the new Act shall impair any rights acquired theretofore by any railroad company. The second provides that the "lands granted by the Act aforesaid shall be sold to actual settlers only, in quantities not greater than one quarter section to each purchaser, and for a price not exceeding two dollars and fifty cents per acre." But the Company claimed "acquired rights" under the former Act. One of these rights was the land, without condition attaching to the grant. It is expressly declared by the amendatory Act that no "rights acquired" should be impaired by it. It is held, therefore, that the limitation as to the price at which the lands may be sold can apply only to such portions of the lands as were occupied by settlers, without title from the Government, before the lands were withdrawn from market in favor of the railroad. These prior occupants are in no case charged more than two dollars and fifty cents an acre. This is a simple statement, without comment of the manner in which the law is construed

Of course it is the interest of the railroad company to do the best they can with their lands. They neither want to give them away nor to hold them at prices which will keep them out of the market. In studying their own interest they cannot, therefore, forget the interest of the State. It is the same as to rates of transportation. No one can suppose that the Company would be foolish enough to make these rates so high as to amount to a prohibition on business. They who engage in great enterprises like these will always find their own interest coincident and identical with the interests of the country. This is sound sense in theory and is practical in fact.

National Subsidies

We have heretofore expressed our disapprobation of that portion of the Republican National Platform which pronounces against national subsidies for necessary railroad enterprises. It is gratifying to observe that all who do not yield to campaign clamor and partisan clap-traps take a similar view. In the Chicago Journal of Commerce we find a well considered article on the subject. That paper reviews the successful policy of Great Britain in subsidizing lines of commerce, points to the marvelous growth of our own country, which has been induced by subsidies for the construction of railways, and proceeds to ask

> Why should the proposition to subsidize important enterprises, promising very extended if not national benefits, become unpopular in the United States? Have not those which have been granted proved wise and greatly beneficial to the trade and commerce of the nation? Were it not for the national subsidies of former years, Illinois would not have possessed half its wealth nor a third of its present population. England's subsidies were bestowed on her commerce, in gold and silver, ours in rich and productive lands. A grant of a few million acres, worth to the Government less than a dollar an acre, secured the construction of the Illinois Central railroad, opened the very heart of the State to settlement and raised the price of lands from $3 to $50 per acre in less than seven years after its construction. Hon. Stephen A. Douglas was eulogized and almost glorified by his friends for the active part he took in securing this subsidy. We detract not an iota from his fame in the work, though others did perhaps as much as he to secure the munificent grant. We merely introduce the fact to say that the citizens of Illinois, and of Chicago in particular, should be the last on this continent to denounce any man or party for advocating a national subsidy for a great and a general good. Chicago would probably have been a stagnant morass until the present day had not the national Government granted lands to aid in the cutting of the Michigan canal. Efforts of companies and corporations and State acts and resolutions, were tried for seven years and nothing was accomplished, but so soon as the national Government gave a certain amount of land the work was commenced and vigorously pushed forward to its completion. What would Cincinnati, Louisville, and a score of smaller places on the Ohio river, have been if the national Government had pronounced internal improvements unconstitutional, and had refused aid to cut a canal around the falls of the Ohio at Louisville? They would not now have contained a tithe of their present wealth and population! All the steamers plying on the lower Ohio, on the Mississippi, the Cumberland, the Tennessee and indeed on all the tributaries of the Mississippi would have been unable to ascend the Ohio except at a very high stage of water. So uncertain would have been their movements, that great commercial cities on the upper Ohio would have been out of the question. A few millions out of the national treasury—a subsidy—to aid in improving the navigation of the Ohio river has doubled the wealth and population of all the States bordering upon it

The value and utility of national subsidies whether in lands or money have been fully tested, and the results have been immensely beneficial not only to localities and large districts of country but to the entire nation. The Chicago paper continues

> The grants of wild and remote lands to aid in the construction of railroads have done more to populate and develop the resources of the Northwest than any other act of the Government. In less than twenty five years Iowa has leaped from a territory to be one of the great States of the Northwest, numbering already a million and a quarter of hardy freemen and [illegible] to retain an honored position among the enterprising and progressive States of the Mississippi valley. What has been the mainspring of this progress?—Her railroads, but these would not have been constructed for the next quarter of a century but for the aid furnished by grants of national lands

The same remarks will hold true of any other States including Oregon and California. Without land subsidies we should have seen no railroad in this State for twenty five years to come. None can deny that the policy [illegible] [illegible]

Yet we now find men who were most forward and influential in proposing the policy and obtaining the subsidies by which so much has been done, now taking the opposite course, condemning the whole policy and system and characterizing new enterprises equally as valuable and meritorious as those which have heretofore received aid. Mr Greeley for instance [illegible] in the Cincinnati platform [illegible] introduced [illegible] denouncing the whole policy. The [illegible] with a fear that its opponents would out[illegible] the question would [illegible] one of the greatest features of the public [illegible] that has been most strong [illegible] instrumental in bringing benefits to the people [illegible] upheld in the Greeley Democratic charges against the development of the country. The party will yet blush [illegible] of it and will return to its better course.

We observe that in an enumeration of the members of the next Legislature by the Roseburg Plaindealer Mr Mosher editor of that paper counts himself in. By this expedient he makes the Senate stand twelve Democrats to ten Republicans. Mr Mosher is evidently squandering the time he employs in such calculations. The Senate at its last session gave him a seat in violation of justice and constitutional rights but the usurpation cannot be permitted to continue. In fact it has expired by limitation since it was not pretended that Mr Mosher had anything more than a fragment of a term. Both parties nominated and the Republicans elected a successor for Mr Mosher. This successor will take the seat. If Mr Mosher would save himself from humiliation he will not put in an appearance

The New York World says that those who are pushing Greeley forward and leaving Democrats no choice except between him and Grant, are forcing Democratic nostrils to choose between assafœtida and sulphuretted hydrogen and to say which is less and which is more odious. This is a very forcible illustration. A Democratic paper of Oregon does nearly as well when it says that if Greeley is nominated at Baltimore it will divide its support between Grant Greeley and the Devil

One by one the Democratic papers of this State are pronouncing against Greeley. The Plaindealer is now out against him. The East Portland Era and Eugene Guard had previously declared their opposition. Likewise the Jacksonville Times. The Portland Herald untrammeled with principles and seeking its own advantage is more prudent and holds itself in readiness to pronounce for Chappaqua

Seventy thousand dollars are appropriated this year for surveying public lands in Oregon. This is a large increase over the appropriations of former years. Settlements are encroaching on the unsurveyed lands in several parts of the State, especially in the Western section, and an increased appropriation for surveys comes very opportunely

A telegram from Berlin states that the Reichstag on the 17th of June, after seven hours debate, passed to a second reading by a vote of 183 to 101 a bill depriving members of the Jesuit order of the rights of citizenship. Such an act sounds strangely to American ears

The Plaindealer alluding to the statement that work had been suspended on the railroad south of Oakland says: The work is not stopped south of Oakland. Oregon Heard From

We take the following from the Cincinnati Gazette

"Triumph is in the air," gushingly cried out the New York Tribune the day after Mr Ferry was elected United States Senator from Connecticut and the New York Democratic Convention pronounced ambiguously on the Greeley nomination. A few days afterward Mr Ferry declared the election of Mr Greeley would be "mere midsummer madness" and the Tribune had an editorial thereupon that read as if the editor had been eating Dead Sea apples. Now comes news of another "Tribune triumph." In 1870 Oregon was carried by the Democracy by a majority of 631. In 1868 the same party carried it by 104. It was supposed the State was sure to go for the Democracy this year. On Monday the New York World had an elaborate statistical article on Presidential possibilities in which Oregon was put down as certain for the Democrats. This morning we publish a dispatch from San Francisco conveying the good news that the Republicans have carried the State electing a Republican Legislature and thus securing the return of a Republican Senator. This is pleasing intelligence. Now we are ready to hear from the next "certain Democratic State."

The St Paul Press puts in this paragraph

Oregon according to later advices has given the country a grander and more swelling Republican victory than was at first announced. Additional returns from the interior pile up the majorities indicating clearly that some Greeley missionary is needed out there to inform the people that Gen Grant has any opposition in the race for the Presidency. TUESDAY MORNING JUNE 25, 1872

CITY.

CLEAR UP.—For the last few days the river has been rapidly falling. Within eight and forty hours the waters have receded about two feet and are still going down. Now is the most proper time to look out and prepare for the various malarial diseases which are most likely to follow the recedence of the water of the river and the consequent drying up of swamps and lowlands contiguous to the city. While the water is flooding the banks and submerging low places along the river, the atmosphere remains comparatively uncontaminated with the poisonous miasma which is so prolific in producing various bilious fevers, ague, &c. But when the subsidence commences the air becomes impregnated and laded with these noxious sources of disease. At such times precautions should be observed. Both north and south of the city, besides across the river are large areas of low lands which are now from three to ten feet under water. Should the river continue to subside these tracts of land will soon be exposed, and become but little better than temporary swamps. These tracts are of sufficient extent to affect the healthful character of the atmosphere over the entire area of the city. In proportion to the population Portland is probably as healthful a city as can be found west of the Rocky Mountains, which is not situated directly on the sea coast. The locality in some respects is not so favorable to good health, for the reasons mentioned, as some other places which could be enumerated, but these defects are being overcome in a great measure and the unhealthful tendencies of the site are being neutralized as far as possible by well regulated sanitary [illegible]ations. "In time of peace prepare for war" is a maxim which has an application to sanitary measures as well as political or national affairs. To counteract the tendencies of diseases which are already insiduously operating, undue precautions should be taken. Since the subject of smallpox has been agitated, the public have been taking active steps to guard against the approach of that dread scourge, by the copious use of disinfectants and vaccination. Cleanliness is one of the greatest safeguards against the prevalence of disease, especially of the various kinds of fevers. Hot weather has come along with the other influences which combine to produce [illegible] and death. Piles of garbage, offal and slop, left exposed to the decomposing effect of the sun, will soon become prolific sources of epidemics. Precautions in the way of cleaning and deodorizing are frequently more efficacious than the use of [illegible], and are often that 'stitch in time.' We hope the necessary considerations of health and the prevention of the spread of diseases may be carefully regarded by our officials and the community at large. Certainly no class is more interested in this matter than our citizens. Clean up back yards and alleys, renovate musty and damp cellars, and use carbolic acid and other disinfecting substances without stint. If cleanliness is next to holiness, it is no less essential to the health, happiness and longevity of the human family.

SPORTSMAN'S CLUB GAME LAWS.—We learn that a project is on foot among some of the hunters, and others, of our city to organize a shooting club, having for its objects the cultivation of a generous rivalry among our market men and their mutual amusement, and also to agitate the question of, and institute measures to secure the passage of a game law at the next session of the State Legislature. Such a law exists in almost all the other States of the Union and would undoubtedly be advantageous if enacted and enforced in Oregon. More especially should we have a regulation of this kind in the Wallamet Valley counties. Around Portland and within a reasonable distance especially, it is found that the promiscuous slaughter of game of all kinds in all seasons of the year has nearly ridden our country of wild animals, such as bear, elk, deer, plover, snipe, quails, grouse, pheasants, and other varieties, in which the woods formerly abounded. The killing of these animals in the breeding season is repulsive to our better instincts as well as our ideas of prudential measures, and we trust that the efforts of the gentlemen alluded to will be successful in checking this evil before such a course depletes the country of game of all sorts.

TEMPERANCE.—By the last steamer there arrived Revs. A. C. McDougall and George B. Taylor, both of California. These gentlemen have been long identified with the temperance movements of that State. Some five or six years ago they separately visited this State, delivered a number of lectures at various places, and organized a number of Good Templar Lodges throughout Oregon and Washington Territory. Mr. Taylor, we believe, was the first public lecturer who organized Lodges of that Order in this State. Mr. McDougall visited the State some time subsequently, lectured extensively, organized numerous Lodges, and did much good service in the temperance cause. These gentlemen we are informed, contemplate visiting Eastern Middle and Southern Oregon, for the purpose of lecturing and organizing Lodges. A grand temperance meeting will be held at the Court House this evening on which occasion addresses will be delivered by Messrs. Taylor and McDougall. The public generally are invited to attend. Several lectures will probably be delivered in this city before the gentlemen depart for different portions of the State.

NEW SMELTING WORKS.—The negotiations that have been pending for the last few weeks for the purchase of the Oswego iron mine by some Eastern and San Francisco parties, have, we understand, been closed by their agents, Hawley Dodd & Co., they having bought of Mr. Prosser the mine and farm for $10,000 the final papers being signed yesterday. The new company have also purchased from the Tualatin River Navigation Company the water front at Oswego for the construction of their new wharves, ore and coal house, and their new smelting apparatus. On inquiry we learn that it is the intention of the company to erect works of double the capacity of the old Oswego Iron Company the plans and specifications for which are now in the contractors' hands at the East. Work will be commenced at the mine forthwith, and already the ring of the axe is heard clearing away the space for the new furnace, which is expected to be in full working order in six months. We are glad to hear of this move, which is one in the right direction and we welcome the coming of Eastern or San Francisco capitalists who desire to develope the resources of our State.

SEVERE ACCIDENT.—Yesterday about [illegible] o'clock as a man named Frank White was engaged at work on Thompson's new brick building on Front street, he fell from the scaffolding to the floor a distance of about fifteen feet. He was employed at the time of the occurrence in nailing up ceiling with another carpenter. They had just lifted up a plank to nail to the joists when White being too far under the board to drive the nail conveniently, thoughtlessly stepped back off the scaffold. He fell backwards but turned over in the descent and struck on his forehead. His head coming in contact with the corner of a piece of timber, his skull sustained a severe fracture and portions of his scalp were nearly torn off. He was removed to the drugstore of Smith & Davis, corner of First and Ash streets, where after some time he regained consciousness, and was removed to his home. His injuries are of a very severe though it is hoped not fatal character.

THE CALIFORNIA.—We clip the following from the Olympia Tribune of last Saturday in reference to the steamship California. Camels for raising her have been taken up to the scene of the accident, and it is the opinion of Mr. Goodhue that the vessel will be successfully raised, patched and taken back to Victoria for repairs. Her cargo, having been under water several days is all badly damaged, and most of it entirely ruined. The injury to the steamer is not known to be very great and is supposed to be susceptible of easy and inexpensive repair. We may not have yet seen the last of the California.

CHOICE MAPLE SUGAR.—We are in receipt of a twenty pound can of most excellent maple sugar direct from the commission house in New York city of Captain J. M. Keeler, formerly Provost Marshal for this State through the agency of Messrs. Leverdge Williams & Co. of this city. The sugar is of Eastern manufacture and is of very superior quality. The Oregon Commission Agency of which Mr. Keeler is head have seen a considerable quantity of this kind of sugar to Messrs. Leverdge Williams & [illegible] dispose of on commission.

FIRST STREET BRIDGE.—Workmen commenced to repair yesterday the First street bridge situated at the southern limits of the city. This bridge has been deemed unsafe for public travel for several months past. Large quantities of loose earth from street excavations were dumped last fall under the southern end of the bridge. This caused a displacement and settling of the braces so that it was unsafe as a highway. The workmen are straightening and bracing up the timbers quite lively. It will soon be ready for use.

HAS HE COME?—The Eugene Guard says that the fat chap who does the drinking for and shapes the destinies of that paper, borrowed a clean shirt and four bits the other morning, begged a paper collar, blacked the dilapidated shoe on his off foot, curled the few hairs and greased the bald spot on his head and disappeared. The police force of Portland is cautioned to look out for him and ship him home C. O. D. as he will probably turn up in that city dead broke.

DEDICATION.—The new Masonic Hall, at the corner of Third and Alder streets will be dedicated to the use and services of the Order of Masonry by the Grand Lodge now in session at Salem. We learn that the members will arrive in this city in a body to-morrow from Salem. On Thursday the Hall will be dedicated with the usual impressive rites and ceremonies of the Order. A grand banquet and ball will be held at the hall on the evening of the 27th.

TWO COUNCILS.—Two Councils will be held this week. The law provides that new members elected to that body shall qualify and enter upon the duties of the office ten days after their election. The election occurred on the 17th instant, and Thursday will be the 27th. According to the law the new Council will have to be organized on that evening. The regular meeting will be held on Wednesday evening which will be the last meeting held by the old Council.

TO THE SINGERS OF PORTLAND.—The Committee of Arrangements for the coming 4th of July invite the several choirs and singers in general of the city to meet at Philharmonic Hall on Friday evening June 28th at 8 o'clock sharp for the purpose of rehearsing the national airs to be sung on the occasion of the celebration. Mr. Wyatt has kindly consented to conduct the same. All being invited, the committee trust there will be a full attendance.

ANKLE SPRAINED.—A man named Skanks while endeavoring to lift a heavy piece of timber at Thompson's building yesterday morning so severely sprained his ankle as to be unable to stand. He was removed to the branch drug store of Messrs. Smith & Davis and subsequently taken to his house. The sprain is so severe that he will probably be confined to his bed for several days from the effects.

SCHEDULE TIME.—The Oregon and California Railroad having been completed through to Oakland regular trains will commence to run to that point on next Monday. There will consequently be a change in the schedule time between this city and Oakland from and after that date. There have now been completed 181 miles of railroad, commencing on the east side.

WRENCH PATENTED.—Through the courtesy of J. McPerkins & Co., of Washington city, we have received notification of a number of patents just issued to various Pacific coast inventors. Among the number, we observe that the Dynameter Wrench, invented by H. R. Leonard, of this city, has been awarded a patent by the Patent Office Department.

TIMBER BURNING.—Dense volumes of smoke were seen to issue yesterday from the timbered region west of the city. From indications clearing is progressing lively in that direction. The bases of the wooded heights environing the western limits of the city are being rapidly divested of their covering, and a few more seasons will bring a wonderful change.

PREPARING TO CHANGE.—Mr. Charles Parrish the present County Clerk and his several deputies, are busily engaged in arranging the papers and squaring the accounts connected with the office, preparatory to turning them all over to his successor, Mr. W. H. Harris who, according to law, will enter on his duties next Monday morning.

DECISION.—The decision in the case of the bark Annie M. Small will be announced in the United States District Court by Judge Deady this morning. This case involves an important question of the jurisdiction between the Courts in Oregon and Washington Territory and will be of interest to commercial men and ship owners.

REGULAR TERM.—The regular July term of the United States District Court will commence on next Monday morning. A venire for twenty three grand jurors has been issued by Marshal Young, and made returnable on the 9th of next month. The delay in the return of the venire was made on account of the coming Fourth.

CHEAPER.—On and after the 1st of next month the duty of 25 cents per 1,000 feet on gas will cease. As a matter of course, consumers of this illuminating article may expect a reduction in the usual price. It is fair to presume that consumers have heretofore been compelled to pay the extra duty.

IMPROVEMENTS.—A number of street improvements and new buildings were commenced yesterday. Numerous building permits have been issued within the last few days, and a new impetus added to the various branches of city improvements.

COUNTY COURT.—The County Court will convene on Thursday the 27th inst. This will be the last meeting of the old Board of Commissioners. The first meeting of the new Board will be on next Monday.

NO DUTIES.—Mr. Bond manufacturer of matches in this city, is in receipt of information through official sources at Washington, that there has been no change in stamp duties on matches.

THE BARK NIOBE.—This vessel, which left here about the 20th of last October, reached Liverpool on the 30th of May. She had a cargo of wheat for the English market.

MEETINGS CHANGED.—From and after the 1st of July the time of the weekly meetings of Baker Post, G. A. R., will be on Thursday instead of Saturday, as at present.

PORTLAND ACADEMY

EXAMINATION LITERARY AND MUSICAL ENTERTAINMENT, CONTEST FOR PRIZES AND COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES

The annual examination of classes in this institution will take place on Wednesday and Thursday, June 26th and 27th 1872 commencing at 9 o'clock A. M. each day.

A Literary and Musical Entertainment will be given by the Junior and Preparatory Departments on Friday June 28th, beginning at 8 o'clock, P. M.

Vocal and instrumental music will be rendered by the school and select classes, assisted by popular performers.

An interesting feature of the rhetorical exercises will be a contest for prizes by sixteen young ladies and gentlemen chosen from the school by a disinterested committee at a preliminary rehearsal. The following are the names of those selected to compete for the prizes, viz: Marietta Hill, Nellie Waltz, Emma Robb, Edith Dillon, Mary DeVore, Fanny Griffith, Lucy Mason, Belle Mann, Emory Burke, Enoch T. Howes, Eddie W. Barlow, Preston Smith, Ino Bakenstos, L. B. DeLashmutt, H. Northrup, Charles Kamm.

The Graduation Exercises will be on Wednesday, July 3d, commencing at 8 o'clock P. M. The Trustees, patrons and public in general and especially the Visiting Committee are cordially invited to be present at the first and throughout the examination.

The Conference Visiting Committee are Revs. Wm. Roberts, George W. Izer, J. W. Miller, Dr. Lindsley, Dr. Atkinson and Dr. Dillon.

The annual meeting of the Board of Trustees will be held in the office of Gov. Gibbs at 3 o'clock P. M. Monday June 26th.

THE FOURTH OF JULY

A general meeting of the Committee of Arrangements was held at Armory Hall last night. The Committee on Ways and Means reported encouraging progress, but in order to carry out the programme as contemplated it will be necessary for the sum of [illegible] more to be raised. This doubtless can easily be done as a number of those who are well able to contribute have not yet been called on by the Committee. Do business men and merchants can make no investment that will pay better than to aid in carrying out the p[illegible] of the Committee. [illegible] case the arrangements contemplated are successfully perfected as we have no doubt they will be there is no doubt of the celebration far surpassing anything of the kind ever witnessed in Oregon. Several hundred singers are expected to unite in a grand chorus under the leadership of J. B. Wyatt, Esq., which fact will be a novel and interesting feature in the day's programme. A notice of the time and place of rehearsal by these singers will be found elsewhere. Another meeting of the General Committee will be held to-morrow (Wednesday) evening.

LOCAL BREVITIES

Steamer Ajax will sail to-morrow evening.

The wood yard men are in ecstacies on account of the decline in the river.

The attendance at the Library is good considering the warm weather.

The [illegible] Nimrods from the Hub have arrived but have bagged no game as yet.

There is a large quantity of lumber piled on the vacant lot just east of the Central [illegible] house.

The new Trinity church is attracting much attention. The carpenters are industriously at work on it.

The [illegible] young men propose to purchase a new white Sunday [illegible]—subject to the Baltimore Convention.

Captain Dick Williams has the frame work of a new store nearly finished on his block on Fourth street near the Skating Rink.

The ship [illegible] which sailed from Hong Kong on the 13th of last month for this port has on board 2[illegible] Chinese passengers.

The Cantata of "Esther" was produced for the first time in this city on the 2[illegible] of June 1871 and drew excellent houses several nights.

Nothing has been heard of the steamships Orizaba or Ilio. The steamer Geo. S. Wright which went to the assistance of the two vessels has probably reached the scene of the disaster.

The U. S. Circuit Court met yesterday morning. No business was transacted and the court stands adjourned until next Monday morning. The U. S. District Court will convene this morning.

AMUSEMENTS

THEATRICAL.—Oro Fino Theater was re-opened last evening on the occasion of the first appearance of Chas. Vivian, the celebrated song and character man, who came to this city under a short engagement to manager Waldron. The evening's performance opened with "Noemie, or 'The Foster Sisters,'" which is a pretty little comedy and was well rendered. The great feature of the occasion however was the songs of Vivian. Public expectation was on tiptoe from the time the curtain fell at the close of the first piece until Vivian made his appearance when he was vociferously greeted with prolonged applause. In his physical appearance this artiste is pleasing, prepossessing if not positively handsome. He is of medium height, quite compactly built, with square shoulders, stands very erect and is a well proportioned man. His features are regular, forehead broad and high and there continually lingers an expression about his face which is both pleasant and assuring to his audience. His perfect self possession on the stage, and the ease and gracefulness of his every movement and gesture stamps him as an artiste in the truest sense of the word. One does not often listen to as musical a voice as Vivian possesses. It is naturally a fine voice, and has been cultivated to a superb degree. With an ease and flexibility almost wonderful, and never unpleasant in his songs, he glides from a pathetic to a comic intonation. He sang a number of his favorite songs last evening, such as "Champagne Charley," "Building Castles in the Air," and last, though not least, "Ten Thousand Miles Away." It would be an impossible task to describe the manner in which he renders his specialties. To appreciate Vivian, you must see and hear him for yourself which, by the way we will conclude by urging all to do. To-night, the same bill in all respects, will be repeated.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

The International Rowing Match.

COMMENTS OF THE LONDON PRESS ON THE RESULT OF THE RACE

London papers of the 11th, comment as follows on the international boat race:

The Times says the simple fact is that the Americans have not yet learned, or they have lost, the true style in rowing. They neglect the cardinal principles of effective rowing. The wonder is that they were able to make a gallant effort with such a defective method. We hope that Americans will learn how to row, then they may put our oarsmen to severer tests.

The Post says that the result of the race shows that we have nothing to learn from the Americans. The latter were inferior in physique and style. They had everything their own way. The choice of water was given them, delays were conceded and the absence of coxswains agreed to, and although they rowed two strokes per minute more than the Londoners they were easily outstripped. The result convinces us that the English style is the best now practiced. It fears the American press will exaggerate the importance of the unfortunate foul which the Atalantas had toward the close of the race.

The Daily Telegraph says: "This race illustrates our national energy, stalwart strength and dogged adherence to the ways we deem best hold their own against the dash and daring of our American kinsfolk. Both crews belong to the Saxon race which is the only one which has the nerve and pluck to preserve manly sports. When the tables are turned, and our neighbors across the water win a victory, we shall regard it as an English triumph."

The Standard declares that a more hollow affair was never witnessed. The Americans were not good enough to win an ordinary country regatta. The effect will be to prevent the recurrence of international matches for some years. The moral to be drawn is that American oarsmen must learn the first elements before coming three thousand miles to row.

Lost Health Regained

[illegible] As a rule men are more solicitous to repair and preserve their houses, their trade and their perishable property than to repair and preserve themselves. They are seen with a wall requires a prop or a weak structure a girder but appear to be unconscious of or lost [illegible] the cracks and flaws and evidences of decay in their own frame and substance organizations.

The consequence of this want of common prudence is that thousands fall by the wayside in the prime of life every year who might have lived to enjoy a hale hearty old age if they had resorted to the proper means of recruiting their failing vigor at the proper time.

Seeing what that famous vitalizing and invigorating elixir Hostetter's Stomach Bitters has done for countless multitudes of the enervated and broken down, and with the long unbroken record of its cures before him it seems amazing that any sufferer from premature decay nervous weakness dyspepsia biliousness chronic constipation or disease of a remittent or intermittent character should delay even for an hour to seek the aid which its toning regulating and invigorating properties have never failed to afford.

It is no exaggeration to say that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is the most faithful ally of nature in her struggles with weakness and disease that medical botany and botanical chemistry have yet given to the world.

PLANTATION BITTERS!

S. T.—1860—X.

This wonderful vegetable restorative is the sheet-anchor of the feeble and debilitated. As a tonic and cordial for the aged and languid it has no equal among stomachics. As a remedy for the nervous weakness to which women are especially subject, it is superseding every other stimulant. In all climates, tropical, temperate or frigid, it acts as a specific in every species of disorder which undermines the bodily strength and breaks down the animal spirits.

PROSPECTUS.

THE THROUGH LINE!

A RAILROAD JOURNAL, TO BE PUBLISHED weekly in the city of Portland Oregon devoted to the interests of railroads and kindred subjects, and especially to the success of the

Portland, Dalles and Salt Lake Railroad

In the interest of this road we have already made one campaign wherein against great odds our efforts have been crowned with a fair measure of success. It is now a fixed fact recognized by the Government and becoming attractive to men of capital and influence.

With the issuance of this prospectus we enter upon a second campaign in which the friends of the great work will find it profitable to be united, firm and persistent.

We shall early discuss the subject of legitimate and reasonable State aid in the prosecution of the work and as an endorsement of the importance of this deservedly popular enterprise.

Preparatory to a renewal of our efforts at the next session of Congress we shall fully discuss the national and local importance of the Portland Dalles and Salt Lake Railroad and through the instrumentality of The Through Line familiarize members of Congress and the American public with the subject in all its bearings. The discussion will cover the whole ground and no fact or matter which may be deemed of importance will be allowed to pass unnoticed.

The successful completion of the railroads embraced in the system of the Pacific Northwest, we shall give our hearty support in all that is fair and just, and especially shall we endeavor to keep alive and make useful that public sentiment in Oregon everywhere manifested in behalf of the Portland Dalles and Salt Lake Railroad.

Our knowledge of the several roads embraced in this system, their origin and progress, the various laws that have been passed concerning them, and the country through which they pass, will enable us to give, from time to time to the American and European reader reliable and important information connected therewith.

Our friends should be especially vigilant in getting subscribers and giving The Through Line a wide circulation. We have made arrangements for its publication and shall employ a competent assistant in the Editorial Department. It will be a twenty column paper and the first number will be issued on or about the 20th of June inst. Subscription $2 50 per annum.

After the Harvest.

Amid the hurrying footsteps of the street
 I pause, and think of those long turned away
In o the qu et paths where rest complete
 Await the traveler at life's closing day.

When cheerful voices float upon the air,
 And merry songs with glad refrain are heard,
I list in vain for tones not blended there,
 Tones long since silenced by Death's whispered words.

When summer sits in glory on the hills,
 And decks with vines and flowers the [illegible] vale
I miss a presence by the purling rills,
 And their sweet voices sadden to a wail.

Morn, noon and eve, and solemn night I seek
 Than which I find not—which the grave hath won,
How did the strong and brave become the weak,
 Dropping life's burden 'neath the noonday sun.

And so among the crowded haunts of men,
 On the lone hill-side, in the valley dim,
I still do dream the lost shall come again,
 But wake to hear alone a funeral hymn.

—Boston Transcript.

Forney's Press says: "There is not a shadow of hope for the success of Mr. Greeley, even if indorsed at Baltimore. No one who saw the great Convention which adjourned at Philadelphia, however prejudiced, but will accept it as the sign and pledge of Republican success. At no period has that party been so strong. At no period in Grant's career has he been so invincible. There was not a whisper in response to the slanders on his character. There was not a word against the justice of his nomination, nor was there a vote or syllable against the platform upon which he stands side by side with Henry Wilson.

Calico creek, in Oregon county, Missouri, has lately learned that the war is over, and Greeley out of the Tribune office. Pending the war and the Greeley administration of the Tribune office, Calico Creek excluded that journal as an incendiary document. The result was dissatisfaction on the part of the schoolmaster and one Sam Denny. The Calicoes lately met and concluded that under the changed circumstances the Tribune would not set their creek on fire, and passed a solemn resolution to the effect "that the schoolmaster and Sam Denny be now permitted to take the Tribune."

One Rackerby has obtained a notoriety in California on the same ground, and somewhat to the same extent as that of the great Jasper J., of Oregon. A San Francisco paper of a very late date, says: "Rackerby has arrived. There is but one Rackerby. Many people think there are twelve Rackerbys, and that they all attended the Cincinnati Convention as delegates from California; this is a mistake. Rackerby is organizing the Greeley party. He is the Twelve Apostles of the Liberal Republican movement. He is the John the Baptist preaching in the political wilderness, "Prepare ye the way for Greeley and make his paths straight."

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

MONDAY EVENING, June 24, 1872.

Gold in New York to-day, 114⅛.

Portland Legal Tender rates, 87½c buying; 89c selling.

Wheat in Liverpool 12s 4d@12s 6d; a further decline.

Information is received that the bark Garibaldi sailed from Hongkong for this port on the 13th May with cargo of rice, etc., and 278 Chinese passengers. She will be due in a week.

Steamship Ajax is to sail for San Francisco Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock.

It is stated at San Francisco that when the China steamer sailed from Hongkong (May 16) another vessel, the brig Manila, was on the berth for cargo for this port.

In the general appropriation bill which passed Congress at the recent session there is an item of one hundred thousand dollars for rivers and harbors in Oregon. We have not seen a detailed list of the appropriations, but this item doubtless includes a sum for the construction of a dredger to operate on the Columbia and Willamette rivers. Among the other items we notice an appropriation of $26,123 to complete the custom house at Astoria.

Customs collections throughout the United States cost the Government in 1871 less than half what they did in 1860; the expenses of collecting in 1860 being 6.25 per cent., while in 1871 it was only 3.11 per cent. Equally reassuring is the fact that the expenses to the people, per capita, of supporting the Government, after deducting the expenses arising specially from the war, is $1.76 in 1871, to $1.95 in 1860.

The dullness and depression of the Wool market continues. The Boston Shipping List states that the principal cause of depression in eastern markets has been the unusually large import of foreign Wools. Since January 1st there have been received at New York and Boston some 60,000,000 lbs of foreign Wool, and, with the arrivals expected before the close of this month, our imports of foreign Wool during the first six months of 1872, are likely to be equal to the entire import for the year 1871. The new tariff reducing the duty 10 per cent. on foreign Wool goes into operation on the 1st of August.

New York papers received by mail contain the amended tariff and tax bill, in full. Among the changes effected is the repeal of about seven and a half millions of stamp taxes, which all will be glad to notice. There is also a reduction of ten per cent. on all manufactures of cotton; on wools, hair of the alpaca goat, and other animals, and manufactures wholly or in part of these materials; on iron and steel, and all manufactures of these except cotton machinery; on paper and most manufactures of paper, on all manufactures of India rubber or gutta percha, or straw, and oil cloths; on glass, and glass-ware, and unwrought pipe-clay, &c., &c. Another large reduction is made on bituminous coal, this being now 75 cents per ton, instead of $1 25 as formerly. Salt in bulk is now 8 cts per cwt, instead of 18 cts formerly, in bags it is 12 instead of 24 cents. Squared timber is 1 cent per cubic foot, and sawed lumber from $1 to $2 per thousand, instead of 20 per cent ad valorem as formerly. Tin plates are reduced from 25 to 15 per cent. ad valorem while tin in pigs, bars, or blocks, is free. Large additions are made to the free list, especially of such articles as enter into the manufacture of others, such as hides, hair, moss, bristles, paper-stock, &c. A long list of medicines, drugs and dye-stuffs are also made free. Ship-building material is free if used in the construction of vessels for the foreign trade. The bill equalizes the tax on tobacco, making it 20 cts per lb, and abolishes the tobacco warehouses. It also makes changes, and a consolidation of the tax on distilled liquors without any actual reduction, the intention still being to collect a large part of the tax from spirits and tobacco.

NATIONAL REPUBLICAN PLATFORM

[illegible]

The Republican Party of the United States, assembled in National Convention in the city of Philadelphia on the 5th and 6th days of June, 1872, again declares its faith, appeals to its history, and announces its position upon the questions before the country.

1. [illegible]

2. Complete liberty and exact equality in the enjoyment of all civil, political and public rights should be established and effectually maintained throughout the Union by efficient and appropriate State and Federal legislation. Neither the law nor its administration should admit any discrimination in respect to citizens by reason of race, creed, color, or previous condition of servitude.

3. The recent amendments to the National Constitution should be cordially sustained because they are right, not merely tolerated because they are law, and should be carried out according to their spirit by appropriate legislation, the enforcement of which can be safely trusted only to the party that secured the amendments.

4. The National Government seeks to maintain an honorable peace with all nations, protecting its citizens everywhere, and sympathizing with all peoples who strive for greater liberty.

5. Any system of the civil service under which the subordinate positions of the Government are considered rewards for mere party zeal, is fatally demoralizing, and we therefore favor a reform of the system, by a law which shall abolish the evils of patronage and make honesty, efficiency and fidelity the essential qualifications for public position without practically creating a lifetenure of office.

6. We are opposed to further grants of public lands to corporations and monopolies, and demand that the National domain be set apart for free homes for the people.

7. The annual revenue, after paying current debts, should furnish a moderate balance for the reduction of the principal of the public debt; and revenue, except so much as may be derived from a tax on tobacco and liquors, be raised by duties upon importations, which should be adjusted to aid in securing remunerative wages to labor, and to promote the industries and growth and prosperity of the whole country.

8. We hold in undying honor the soldiers and sailors whose valor saved the Union. Their pensions are a sacred debt of the nation, and the widows and orphans of those who died for their country are entitled to the care of a generous and grateful people. [illegible]

9. [illegible]

10. The franking privilege ought to be abolished and a way prepared for reductions in the rates of postage.

11. Among the questions which press for attention is that which concerns the relations of capital and labor, and the Republican party recognize the duty of shaping legislation so as to secure a full protection and ample field for capital, and for labor which creates capital, the largest opportunities and a just share of the mutual profits of these two great servants of civilization.

12. We hold that Congress and the President have only fulfilled an imperative duty in their measures for the suppression of violent and treasonable organizations in certain lately rebellious regions and for the protection of the ballot, and therefore they are entitled to the thanks of the Nation.

13. We denounce the repudiation of the public debts, in any form or disguise, as a national crime. We witness with pride the reduction of the principal of that debt, and of the rates of interest upon the balance, and confidently expect that our excellent national currency will be perfected by a speedy resumption to specie payment.

14. The Republican party is mindful of its obligations to the loyal women of America for their noble devotion to the cause of freedom; their application for admission to further usefulness is received with satisfaction; and the honest demands of any class of citizens for additional rights should be treated with respectful consideration.

15. We heartily approve the action of Congress in granting amnesty to those engaged in the rebellion, and rejoice in the growth of peace and fraternal feeling throughout the land.

16. The Republican party propose to respect all rights reserved by the people to themselves, as carefully as the powers delegated by them to the State and Federal Governments. [illegible]

17. It is the duty of the General Government to adopt such measures as will tend to encourage American commerce and ship building.

18. We believe that the modest patriotism, the earnest purpose, sound judgment, practical wisdom, incorruptible integrity and illustrious services of U. S. Grant have commended him to the heart of the American people. [illegible]
